AN INTERVIEW WITH CHANG FAT FUI.

ADVENTUROUS CYCLIST'S Tiffin WITH THE "IRONSIDES."

FAVOURABLE IMPRESSION OF REBEL TROOPS.

After having pedalled his way through many different countries of the world for ten years and eight months, Antonio Zetto, a young Italian, has arrived in Shanghai from a visit to Szechuan, where he saw and conversed with several of the Generals now prominent in the news of wars and rumours of wars, among them Gen. Chang Fat Fui, the leader of the most recent revolt against the Nanking Government.

Signor Zetto left his home in Trieste on a challenge from a relative, who promised a substantial reward if he would make his way through the world by the use of his legs. The young and adventurous fellow accepted the challenge and has ever since been bicycling through many lands, says the N.C. Daily News.

At first he supported himself with some money he already had, but when this ran out he was forced to find work in the various cities he visited, with a result that he tasted the bitterness of the occasional labourer, whose services are sometimes required, but more often are not. In spite of setbacks, Signor Zetto, told the N.C. Daily News, the interest of his wandering life more than compensated for its troubles. The personages to whom he obtained access on account of the strangeness and glamour of his mode of getting about over long distances, and the angles on life among every nation which would turn the average writer of travel memoirs green with envy—these, he said, were his compensations.

The story of his visit to Ichang is as follows:—

In Search of Autographs.

I reached Ichang the evening of September 16. As it was my custom to get autographs of famous personages, I went the next day to the headquarters of General Chang Fat Fui with the hope of adding his name to my album. I was met at the door by guards and ushered into another room where more guards met me and took me to the Chief of Staff. This officer talked very good English having, as he told me, spent six years in a Japanese army school and visited America and England. He asked me my mission and I told him of my desire to have the General's signature. He replied that the General was very busy at that time preparing to leave Ichang in the afternoon. However, he would take my book to the General and see what he could do.

This was an old story to me, for often people who signed my book were too busy to ever come out in person. You can imagine my surprise when a few minutes later, a rather thin gentleman stepped out of the office and was introduced to me as General Chang Fat Fui. The Chief of Staff, acted as interpreter because the General did not speak English.

The General was interested in my trip and said that he was extremely sorry that he could not entertain me as he wished, because he was leaving Ichang with the rest of his troops that very day. But if I would join him for tiffin, he would like it very much. I promptly accepted his kind invitation.

A Well-organized Force.

He then escorted me around the barracks on an inspection of his troops. I never in my travels and contacts with military organizations throughout China had seen such well organized and trained men as were these.

At tiffin, the General proved to be a charming host and a fine man. He was very friendly with foreigners, interested in the foreigners' opinion of his army. I answered that, as a whole, the reputation of his troops was very high. "Yes," he said, "we are the best in China. Eighteen thousand strong with machine guns and light artillery. The only thing we lack is aeroplanes."

He explained that the soldiers had no woollen clothes, as such would cost too much to obtain from the foreigners. He said that China was a very rich country but sadly lacking in good communication facilities but he hoped to have these improved soon. I asked him what would happen to the city when he left, for, as a general rule, when the soldiers move out the bandits move in.

"Oh," answered the General, "I shall leave 300 local soldiers as guard so there will be no danger." He said that he was leaving that day on the S. S. Shu Han for a small village down the river.

After tiffin, I said goodbye to my genial host and left with a fine impression of General Chang Fat Fui. I stayed in Ichang for several days despite the fact that the other foreigners were living on board the ships for fear of bandits.

I was surprised to learn that the trip which General Chang Fat Fui spoke of was a military uprising against the National Government, and I imagine that I was the last foreigner to speak with the General before this sudden turn.

BRIDES OF FORTY.

BOOM IN THE MARRIAGE MARKET.

While there is still the natural eagerness to marry in the early twenties, there is also a steady increase in the numbers of women who take a husband between the ages of 30 and 45.

This is revealed in the latest return from the Registrar-General's register of national marriage, now being compiled at Somerset House.

The boom in marrying continues, and the term is official. But this boom is not considered a normal condition, but rather the readjustment of a situation brought about by the coal stoppage and general strike of 1923, when many young people postponed their weddings.

A well-known registrar of marriages said that women are not necessarily choosing careers instead of marriage.

"They are postponing the romantic chapter until later in life," he said. We notice that the bride of, say 38, nowadays looks almost as young as the girl of 25 did during the period of the fashion for long skirts and coiffures.

Since the War the bachelor has been more marriageable than he was before, but on the other hand the widow is harder to catch. There is a heavy decline in the rate of widows who remarry.

Another interesting fact is that the man who has married once, almost invariably remarries.

It is startling to find that no fewer than 1,222 men over 70 were bridegrooms last year, and the majority wed young spinsters.

Nearly 400 old ladies of 70 and over were led to the altar during the year of the Registrar-General's last review.

NEWSPAPERS AND EDUCATION.

INFLUENCE OF THE PRESS AND PUBLIC DEMAND.

The advance in public education in national and international affairs provoked by the initiative of newspapers was one of the subjects referred to by Mr. H. A. Gwynne, president of the Institute of Journalists, in his address to the annual conference of the institute held at Portsmouth.

"The people of this country," he said, "are becoming better educated, and this improvement has been reflected to a certain extent in the Press. If you examine the popular newspapers of to-day with those of ten years ago, you will perceive a marked inclination towards the graver problems of life."

"This does not mean that the human interest story is going to disappear. On the contrary, the mind that is occupied with complicated and difficult questions is all the more eager to ease the strain by turning to the lighter side of human nature."

"Our readers, however, will, I believe, exact, as the result of their greater knowledge, gained through the improvement of education, that greater weight shall be given to graver issues."

HANGING ON TO LIFE.

"It is remarkable that a woman of eighty-seven should hang on to life till last week after being knocked over by a heavy lorry so long ago as last February," said Mr. H. R. Oswald, the coroner, at the inquest at Kensington on Miss Julia Baggott, of New-street, Baker-street, W.

A verdict of "Accidental death" was recorded, the driver of the lorry being exonerated from blame.

SOVIET STATESMAN WARNED.

THREATS OF PUNITIVE ACTION.

ANTI-PARTY WORK ALLEGED.

[United Press.]

Moscow.—A ringing warning to Nikolai Bukharin, until recently Secretary-General of the Communist International, that if he persists in his political heresies his career may run parallel to that of Leon Trotsky has been sounded by official spokesmen in connection with his formal removal from that post.

Bukharin was generally credited with leadership of the moderate or Right Wing in the Communist movement both at home and abroad.

"The experience of former Opposition shows clearly enough when a struggle against the Party leads," declared Pravda, mouth-piece of the Communist organization of which Bukharin himself had been editor for years. "This experience must serve as an earnest warning to Comrade Bukharin."

Communist Groups.

Resolutions by Communist groups throughout the country, similarly hold out the threat of punitive action if Bukharin, like Trotsky before him, should attempt to form his own underground group within the ranks of the Party.

"We acclaim your services in the past," declared one resolution, but those services will not deter us from punishing you if you persist in your anti-Party work."

The fate of Bukharin, however, is only a symbol of a deep and far-reaching mood in the Communist movement. As such it has enormous significance not alone for the Soviet Union but for the rest of the world. The symbol is dramatic enough, the decline of one of Lenin's closest adjutants, of one of the half dozen men who ranked highest in building the new Russia and directing the world-wide Communist efforts, is no slight thing.

But even more important are the circumstances on which it rests. The Right tendency so-called disagrees with the fundamental policies of the Kremlin. The tempo of industrialisation, it insists, is too fast. The effort to communize agriculture is premature and doomed to failure. The weakness of capitalism abroad is over-estimated. Whether or not that fairly summarizes Bukharin's viewpoint scarcely matters. Suffice that those were the general notions attributed to him.

Bread Factories.

In the last month or two it became clear that insofar as domestic questions are concerned this Right view was wrong, or at least too pessimistic. The Right prophecies that the industrial tempo could not be maintained crumbled as the first year of the Five-Year Plan drew to a close. Not only was the plan in its main outlines carried out, but in many respects it was even exceeded. And the strained effort for collective farming and large government "bread factories," while still in its early stage, was more successful than hoped for.

It is no accident that the announcement of Bukharin's dismissal from the Comintern came in the same week as official economic balance-sheet showing clearly that the industrial plan was being made effective. Nor is it an accident that the fight against the Rights became more vigorous as it appeared more definitely that the harvest this year would be above average. The Kremlin feels that facts have justified its policies.

The general economic situation here is better than it has been for (Continued on next Column).

at least 18 months. The Kremlin feels strong and confident enough to proceed even further on its revolutionary Left course. The reduction of Bukharin to the ranks means an intensified pressure on private trade and on the rich peasants. It means more revolutionary slogans, and wherever possible actions, in the Communist movement outside of Russia. Any doubts that the Soviet Union still has a single aim in view—the original aim of 1917, to bring about Socialism—have been set at rest recently.

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN.

(By Lt. Gen. LORD BADEN-POWELL.)

[Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press." All Rights Reserved.]

Scouts and Guides rely upon their ability to notice small things and to put two and two together.

If you are in the country you should notice landmarks—objects which help you to find your way or prevent you from getting lost—such as distant hills, church towers, peculiar buildings, trees, gates, rocks, and so on.

And remember, in noticing such landmarks, that you may want to use your knowledge of them some day for telling someone else how to find his way, so that you should notice them pretty closely and thus be able to describe them in their proper order. You should notice and remember every by-road and footpath.

Of course you should notice all passers by very carefully—how they are dressed and what their faces are like. Notice all tracks too: that is the marks of men, animals, birds and wheels—for from these you may read most important information. The most successful de-etectives owe their success to noticing small signs. Scouts are natural detectives and never let details escape them.

Scouts and Guides rely on their ability to notice small things.

A Scouting Exercise.

Here is a little exercise which I once carried out in observing a sign and reading the meaning of it.

During a walk on a stony mountain path in Kashmir I noticed a tree-stump about three feet high by the path. A stone about the size of a coconut lay near it, to which were sticking some bits of bruised walnut rind, also lying on the stump. Further along the path, thirty yards to the south of the stump, were lying bits of walnut shell of four walnuts. Close by was a high sloping rock, alongside the path.

The only walnut tree in sight was 150 yards north of the stump. At the foot of the stump was a cake of hardened mud which showed the impression of a grass shoe.

My solution of it was this. A man had gone southward on a long journey along the path two days before, carrying a load, and had rested at the rock while he ate walnuts.

He was a man carrying a load, because when carriers want to rest they do not sit down but rest their load against a sloping rock and lean back.

Had he had no load he would probably have sat down on the stump; but he preferred to go thirty yards further to where the rock was.

Women do not carry loads there, so it was a man. But he first broke the shells of his walnuts on the tree stump with the stone, having brought them from the tree 150 yards north. He was therefore travelling south, and he was on a long journey because he was wearing shoes and not going barefooted, as he would have been if only strolling near his home.

Three days before there was rain: the cake of mud had been picked up while the ground was still wet, but it had not since been rained upon and was now dry. The walnut rind was also dry, so that days had elapsed.

"Sherlock-ing."

That is only an example of an every-day practice which any Scout might carry out—or any boy or girl for the matter of that.

When I was the age of a Wolf Cub I used to notice the number on the collar of every policeman I met, and then remember where I had seen him. Then I used to get a friend to come for a walk to one of the points where a policeman was on duty. A policeman on point duty is one who remains always about the same spot for regulating the traffic and so on—not like the policeman on "beat" who moves about over a certain district of his own.

When we were in sight of the policeman but a good way off I would shade my eyes and stare hard in his direction, and gradually spell out his number and the letter of his division. Then we would walk past him and my companion would think that my marvellous eyesight had read them correctly!

Then I used to keep a little notebook and draw in it pictures of all the different weather-cocks I saw. Very few people look up and notice these.

On the top of the Royal Exchange in London there is a huge golden grasshopper as weathercock. Thousands of people pass it every day, yet very few ever notice it.

They don't keep their eyes about them as does a good Scout or Guide.

CHINESE REVENUE OFFICER CHARGED.

ALLEGED ASSAULT.

CHINA TRAVEL SERVICE EMPLOYEE'S COMPLAINT.

An employee of the China Travel Service summoned a Chinese Revenue Officer before Mr. T. S. Whyte Smith at Kowloon Magistrate's Court yesterday for assault.

Mr. M. K. Lo appeared for the complainant, and Mr. J. M. Remedios for the defendant. Mr. E. C. K. Hawkins, of the Revenue Department, watched the proceedings on behalf of the Department.

Outlining his case, Mr. Lo said that the China Travel Service was a firm run on the same lines as Messrs. Thos. Cook and Sons, Ltd. It was stated that the firm was started ten years ago and did most of its work in North China. Last May a branch office was opened in Hong Kong.

On Wednesday, September 11, the Hong Kong office received information that a lady was bringing some printed matter for the firm from Shanghai. The complainant and his fokis went aboard the steamer and the lady handed him three packages of books of advertising the China Travel Service. The books were brought ashore by the fokis and placed on the wharf in the usual manner for examination. The party were followed by the defendant, and he asked the complainant for tea money.

The complainant refused and said that he was only an employee. He invited the officer, however, to examine the goods if he wished. The defendant made a search and finding only books proceeded to look at them. Having finished he deliberately tore two of the books. The complainant remonstrated with him and the defendant replied: "I have assaulted everyone but you, and now I will give you a taste." He then struck the complainant on the left eye and knocked him down. The complainant returned to his office and reported the matter. He was sent to a doctor who examined his injuries, and later he came to see Mr. Lo.

Mr. Lo said that he wrote to the Revenue Department asking for the name of the Revenue Officer No. 73, but received a reply from Mr. J. D. Lloyd that he would like to know if the assault had taken place whilst the defendant was on duty or while he was "in private life." He also pointed out that frequent mistakes were made in reading numbers, and he suggested that an identification parade should be held. A parade was held and the complainant had no hesitation in pointing out the defendant.

Seriousness of the Case.

Mr. Lo said that he would like to point out at this stage of the hearing that if the assault was proved he must ask for a serious view to be taken of the case. Police and Revenue officers were guardians of the public safety, and to allow such assaults to occur would mean distrust of these officers by the public. The public should have every confidence in these officers and know, above all, that they did not use violence to people they had to search.

His Worship remarked that there were certain degrees of provocation and resistance which might justify these officers of arresting a tough customer.

The complainant then gave evidence corroborating his solicitor's statement.

His Worship enquired if his job was similar to a boarding house runner.

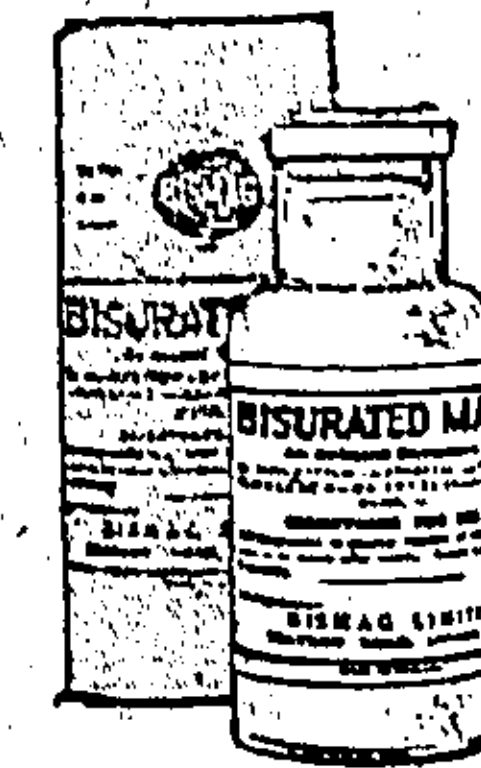

Mr. Lo: "No, No, your Worship, purely a Thos. Cook and Son, show!"

The hearing was adjourned until October 16, at 2.15 p.m.

DOCTORS WHO SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION

DOCTORS know that most cases of digestive disturbance are due to acidity, and so, when they themselves get an attack of stomach pain, they obtain instant relief by taking "Bisurated" Magnesia. If you suffer after eating; if food lies like lead on your stomach, causing distress and keeping you awake at night, get a package of "Bisurated" Magnesia and take a little after meals, or whenever pain is felt. You'll say, with the doctors, that though the treatment is cheap and simple, there's nothing to beat it anywhere, at any price. When buying always look for the oval "Bismag" trade-mark on the wrapper.

THE SWATOW AFFAIR.

REPLY TO SHANGHAI PAPER'S "VINDICATION."

On September 23 the writer of the letter which appeared in our columns some weeks ago, dealing with an incident at Swatow, sent to the N.C. Daily News a reply to statements subsequently appearing in that journal. We have watched the columns of our northern contemporary to see whether this letter had been published; if it has, the fact has escaped our notice, and as the subject is of considerable public interest, we reproduce below the letter, which was addressed to the Shanghai paper.

[TO THE EDITOR, "NORTH CHINA DAILY NEWS," SHANGHAI.]

SIR,—In your issue of the 18th instant under the heading "Foreigners' Rights in Swatow" you revert to the case originally reported in a letter to the Hong Kong Daily Press signed "Disgusted." You state that after waiting patiently for further particulars of the incident such particulars have come to your hand through a British resident in Swatow. On the strength of this new information you discount the original story, vindicate the Consul, and apologise to him. Your vindication and apology are no affair of mine. What I am most concerned with are the so-called "new facts" which have come to light, which "give the matter a different aspect."

As I am the original "disgusted" one a rejoinder seems to be indicated. Your informant, whose identity is apparent in every line of his information, suggests that the monotony of our lives has so degenerated our minds that the most trifling disagreements are magnified until they become actual feuds, that such feuds date back for a long time, and that at present "the little group of British residents is sharply divided into two camps" (I suppose the inference is that I belong to the blink-minded, monotonous camp and your informant to the "Brighter Swatow" movement).

He further alleges that I am one of the party or camp which includes the British resident who was maltreated. This is a delicate thrust which can only be appreciated to the full by Swatow folk, and it is very amusing in spite of its inaccuracy. But the most serious of your informant's allegations is that I, in my little camp, have built up a fabric of camouflage and misrepresentation against a background of private feud in order to fire off at the Consul my darts of party animus. If his information, shall I say, your rendering of his information, means anything at all, it is that I have taken a chance opportunity of attacking an enemy with whom I have had a long-standing feud.

May I state at once, quite simply and directly, that if your informant means that he is prejudiced. There is no other word for it, as every British resident in Swatow will attest.

If you require a general background for the episode the following may help you:—

1. The "Swatow" British community (you state "foreign" community) is small, but it is compact and harmonious.
2. In this particular British community "the sameness of things and the constant association with a mere handful of one's own people" has not produced the feuds which your informant suggests.
3. The suggestion of a sharp division of the British community into two camps is a purely imaginative flight, and I can only think that your informant had his tongue in his cheek when he made the suggestion.
4. At the time of the incident there was complete harmony amongst the members of the British community, as indeed there still is. Your informant in suggesting otherwise places himself in a minority of one.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY IN CENTRAL DISTRICT.

MESSENGER OVERPOWERED AND ROBBED.

A daring robbery with violence was carried out in the Central district yesterday at 4 p.m.

A shop coolie at the Kwong Tai comrade shop, 9, Hing Lung Street, reported to the Police that he was given $332.00 by his master's son to pay Messrs. Conner Brothers, the sum of $450.07 and the balance $173.91 to Messrs. Himly & Company, 33, Connaught Road C.

He first went to Conner Brothers at David House going to the 5th floor by lift. He had just left the lift when two men approached him. The first man said that he was going to search him and before he could protest, the man started to do so. Suddenly pepper was thrown in his eyes and he was knocked down and the money taken. He called for help but the men ran away. Up to a late hour last night no arrest had been made.

GIRLS' SUICIDE PACT.

JUMP INTO HARBOUR FROM MURRAY PIER.

According to a Police report, two Chinese girls of sixteen who had recently arrived from Canton, jumped into the Harbour together early yesterday morning from Murray Pier.

The act was witnessed by a number of people in the vicinity and a prompt rescue was effected by an office boy employed by the Great Eastern Telegraph Company and by a sampan fokis.

The two girls, who were suffering from the effects of the immersion were later removed to the Government Civil Hospital. The cause of their action is being investigated by the S.C.A.

5. When the facts of the "Dog" case came to light all the British residents (except perhaps your informant, whose opinion I did not ask), including many of the Consul's personal friends, were appalled at the settlement, involving, as it did, the sacrifice of the extra-territorial principle and a gross injustice to a British subject.

6. The letter signed "Disgusted" was written after much discussion and thought amongst many who are still the Consul's personal friends, and when your informant suggests that private malice was the actuating motive he places himself once again in a minority of one. When I wrote the "Disgusted" letter I was merely concerned to air a grave injustice, and to discover whether the sacrifice of the extra-territorial principle was to be imputed to the Consul, the Legation, or the Foreign Office.

It must surely be obvious, even to your informant, that if we are to live and trade in this port it is essential for us to know whether the Consul has received instructions to place expediency before principle in matters affecting our personal rights and liberty. In matters of property rights it is all too evident that principle "died long ago."

As I have informed the Consul of the authorship of the "Disgusted" letter, and as I hope soon to meet your informant at the Club, there is no reason why my anonymity should not be preserved amongst the general public, and I therefore subscribe myself—Yours faithfully, STILL DISGUSTED.

The above letter sets out the facts very plainly, and certainly calls for notice by the Shanghai paper. It will be remembered that, in commenting upon the so-called "vindication," we pointed out that the alleged new facts brought to light did not affect the real issue at all. The writer of the above letter stresses the same point. From whatever angle the incident is regarded, it is decidedly unsatisfactory from the British residents' point of view, and more is likely to be heard of it yet.

KWANGTUNG'S FORMAL DECLARATION OF WAR.

ALIGNMENT OF MILITARY LEADERS STILL UNCERTAIN.

NANKING REINFORCEMENTS ARRIVE IN CANTON.

Kwangtung has formally declared war on Kwangsi and the usual proclamations and justifications have been issued. Canton troops have occupied Wuchow, and the "Ironsides" are expected at Kweilin, from which town they will advance on Wuchow down the Kwei Kiang.

The attitude of "Lui Woon Im, Commander of the 16th (Kwangsi) Division, is obscure. While one report states that he is negotiating terms of alliance with Kwangtung, another declares that, with his troops, he is retreating towards Kweilin to join forces with Chang Fat Fui.

KWANGSI "TRAITORS" DENOUNCED.

WHY CANTON DECLARED WAR.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

CANTON, October 4.

The Kwangsi Government took no notice of the ultimatum from Canton and the latter Government formally declared war to-day.

In a special proclamation the head of the Kwangsi Government, Yu Tsok Pak, is denounced as a "reactionary and a traitor who has been working against the interests of peace between the two Kwangs." He has defied the Nanking Government, entirely forgetting that it was with the help of that Government that he was placed at the head of Kwangsi. He has plotted with Li Ming Shui, another reactionary and allied himself with Chang Fat Fui.

There is a good deal more to the same effect and an appeal to the Kwangtung people to support the Government, etc.

A further declaration, signed by General Chen Tani Tong, defends the war policy on the following grounds:—

1.—The Kwangsi party has joined with Russia and is seeking to sell the country.

2.—The said party were responsible for the Red Uprising in Canton of December, 1927, they are largely Communists and have raised so-called peasant armies which are in fact gangs of "Reds."

3.—The Kai Tso faction of the Kuomintang consists of extremists who have been expelled from the party, but have gathered in Kwangsi and made the province a centre of revolt.

4.—The Kwangsi party has destroyed the unity of the country and betrayed the principles of Dr. Sun Yat Sen.

5.—They have violated the terms and spirit of the Disbandment Conference.

NANKING REINFORCEMENTS ARRIVE.

The first of the eight ships conveying Nanking troops arrived in Canton yesterday afternoon. The others are expected here to-day. The total force, comprising three divisions, will be over 20,000 strong. They will be despatched to the West River front at once.

Canton is to-day bedecked with flags and other decorative signs of welcome. Handbills and pamphlets are being freely distributed to the populace by the Kuomintang, and a leading article appeared in to-day's issue of the Min Kuo Daily News, the official organ of the Canton Kuomintang, welcoming these Northern troops and telling the people about the objects.

WUCHOW TAKEN.

Wuchow has been taken over by Cantonese troops according to the latest dispatches. General Lui Woon Im, whose baffling attitude has been a source of considerable worry, is reported after all, to have withdrawn to Kweilin with his troops and joined the Kwangsi faction. It appears that little or no resistance was offered to the entrance of the Cantonese troops to Wuchow.

A CONTRARY REPORT.

LUI WOON IM TO OPPOSE IRONSIDES?

The vernacular press, however, maintains that General Lui Woon Im is quietly arranging an alliance with Kwangtung, his terms being the Chairmanship of the Provincial Government, and $500,000 for military expenses. It was further reported that these terms had been accepted and that Lui's troops would act as an advance guard in opposing the progress of the "Ironsides" from Kweilin, down the Kwei-kang which joins the West River at Wuchow.

IRONSIDES ADVANCING.

It is also reported from Wuchow that the "Ironsides" arrived on Thursday at a point about 900 li from Chuanchow on the northern border of Kwangsi. They are expected at Kweilin two or three days later. There, they would join the Kwangsi troops and move southern along the Kwei River. Chang Fat Fui, the leader of the "Ironsides" has declared that he will "fight to the last."

Another report from Wuchow says that the Kwangsi troops under Li Ming Shui moved to Kweiping from Kweishien lately and have been engaged in a serious fighting with Lui Woon Im's troops.

Rumours have been current in Wuchow that General Teng Fai, the commander of the 57th Division of the Kwangsi troops, has declared himself independent.

GUNBOATS AT WUCHOW.

(Fah Tze Yut Pao.)

CANTON, October 4.

According to a telegram from Admiral Chen Chak, the Canton gunboats Kungtai and Kungshon arrived at Wuchow and received a rousing welcome from Lui Woon Im's troops on Friday. The Canton troops have still not arrived at Wuchow.

MORE MOTOR-BOATS FOR CANTON.

TO BE USED AS HONAM FERRIES.

The Canton Bureau of Public Utilities has decided to increase the number of motor-boats that ply as ferries between Canton and Honam. Surveys made of the traffic revealed that the present fleet of motor ferries is far from sufficient and in the interests of the public an increase in the number of boats must be made.

Plying across the river are numerous sampans. These are well patronised, not because of preference over the motor-boats but because the trips of the latter are not frequent enough for public needs. The present services of motorboats are in the hands of a company enjoying monopoly rights. On the announcement of the Bureau of Public Utilities that more ferries would be permitted, applications from interested parties have been submitted to the Bureau, tendering for the new services.

The new boats, when in operation, will be required to ply between points on the bund where at present there are no motorboats, as it is proposed to have ferry services available all along the bund.—Canton Gazette.

HONG KONG'S "INFERIORITY COMPLEX."

"INTELLECTUAL AND SOCIAL STARVATION" EXPLAINED.

IN A SPECIAL INTERVIEW WITH DR. FAWCETT.

PLIGHT OF THE NEWCOMER FROM HOME.

[By H.A.F.]

I found Dr. Hugh Fawcett, the acting M.O.H., seated at his desk regarding my "visiting-card" rather quizzically.

"So you are the author of the humorous article upon the Sanitary Board Meeting which appeared over your initials in the Daily Press?" he asked when the usual formalities were completed.

"Yes," I confessed. "Then, in mitigation, I pleaded, 'But I've had those initials for quite a long time, Doctor.'"

"We can't help having the same initials," he returned, cheerfully. "If you are seeking information upon official matters, I am afraid I must disappoint you. Orders are orders, you know!"

"But tell me what you think of Hong Kong's social life, Doctor!"

"Ah, that is a different matter."

The Peak Tram.

"When I first arrived in the Colony I was struck very forcibly by the entire absence of any 'get-together' spirit among the English people. For some time I gave careful thought to the problem, and came to the conclusion that many people living on the Island, at any rate, were existing rather artificially."

"I noticed the same thing," I confessed, "and drew my own conclusions. To what do you attribute this attitude?"

The doctor's eyes twinkled behind his glasses.

"What is your explanation?" he countered.

"It seems to me that many of us live every hour of the day in fear of making a faux pas."

"Humph!" he retorted, "that may be one of the chief reasons. Do you ride on the Peak tram a great deal? If so, you may have met with the 'Hong Kong Stars'."

"That's a new one, Doctor! I have made the acquaintance of the Hong Kong Cough, Hong Kong Dog, Hong Kong Stoop, and Hong Kong Foot! Is the Hong Kong Stars another disease or complaint, peculiar to the Colony?"

The doctor laughed.

"Almost," he replied. "When one boards the tram en route for the Peak, one meets with appraising stares from the other passengers, who whisper together concerning one. When one leaves the tram at May Road one can almost hear a gasp of relief go up to Heaven!"

"I once occupied the seat reserved for His Excellency the Governor," I interposed. "The tram was full at the time."

"What happened?"

I shuddered, and changed the subject. But the doctor swung back again to his original complaint.

"Thousand-Feetites!"

"It seems to me," he continued, "that the people living on the Peak suffer from an advanced 'inferiority complex'."

"I have always considered the position to be the reverse, Doctor. A pronounced dose of 'superiority complex,' as a matter of fact."

"Not a bit of it! The majority of the people on the Peak seem to me to belong to the bourgeoisie suburban type, accustomed to a small 'semi-detached' at home and no servants, unless they have a 'daily help' call occasionally. Here, on the Peak, many of them occupy villas with pigeon-lofts in front of the doors, and are able to employ a few servants for low wages, rejoice in the monotony of a 'tai-pan,' and obsessed with an overwhelming idea of their own importance, lose their heads in the clouds that crawl over the Peak occasionally, and become too big for their shoes!"

"Later, when they return to England they thaw somewhat, and the culmination of their life in Hong Kong occurs when they knock at the door of a 'semi-detached' in Tooting or Penge and kiss their greengrocer fathers!"

He swung off at a tangent.

"By the way," he demanded suddenly, "are you a 'thousand-feetite' or just a 'two-hundred'?"

Middle Class Monument.

"You see," he went on, without waiting for my answer, "it strikes me that the people of Hong Kong are assessed not so much by their wealth or ability as by the number of feet they live up the Peak. The man who lives only one hundred feet up, for instance, is a mere nobody, and gets a frozen stare from the 'neighbour' whose villa tops his another hundred feet up!"

"And so they go on—or up! Finally we meet the 'Thousand-feetite' in all his grandiose, isolated glory, so high in the air that he knows nobody save such persons who may care to perch as near the clouds as possible."

"Several persons have expressed similar views to me," I admitted.

"Yes," observed Dr. Fawcett, "but you must understand that I am making no attempt to particularise. I am merely generalising, that is all. But any thoughtful person can see that the Peak merely stands as a Monument to the Middle classes!"

The Colony was founded by a merchant type, and it will always be a commercial place. On the other hand, the time may come when the British people will be ousted entirely in a social sense. More and more wealthy Chinese are coming to live in the Colony, and, unless the English community on the Island lose their 'starch' and fraternise more with each other, they may be pushed right out of the picture!"

Kowloon's Example!

The Doctor proffered me his cigarette-case and paused to strike a match. Restless but obviously efficient to the last degree, he pressed a button, fired a string of orders at a Chinese clerk, hurriedly signed two or three documents, answered queries asked by two members of his staff who followed close on the heels of the clerk, and then answered a phone call.

"As you can see," he observed when he replaced the receiver, "I am kept fairly busy. However, to revert to the subject of the interview—"

"Now in Kowloon, things seem much different. One can see little knots of Britishers chatting in the streets. The houses have a more homely appearance than the Peak houses, and one feels that one can ring the bell of any house in Kowloon, step right inside, and be made to feel at home in a minute!"

"This 'Hong Kong Stars,' Doctor," I remarked, "is well met with, now I come to think of it. Do you know, I have stayed in an hotel for months, seeing the same faces day in and day out in the dining room and, when I have passed fellow-boarders on the Ferry and nodded to them in greeting, I have had a stare in return as if they did not know me!"

Dr. Fawcett blew a smoke-ring into the air.

"Exactly," he agreed, "but what is the explanation? Segregation of the races is fairly common in the East. As a general rule whites, Eurasians, and natives form three distinct cliques, but I think the whites should be more friendly to each other. The Chinese, Portuguese and other nationals here teach them lessons in that respect."

Welcome Club Needed.

"That is where Hong Kong can learn from Malaya, Doctor," I said. "When I first went to Penang I knew nobody, but was soon made to feel at home. Do you think a Welcome Club would be acceptable here, so that new arrivals in the Colony could meet and strike up friendship? Unless a young man turns to the Y.M.C.A. or a religious denomination, there is nothing much in Hong Kong for him but the gin bottle."

"And Wanchai," added the doctor, gravely. "I think the Welcome Club idea a good one. After all, there are many young men who come here and, through sheer loneliness and being left to their own devices, drift and go wrong when a cheery Welcome Club would help them tremendously."

"So you can see now how it is that I feel the lack of social or intellectual intercourse here. Before a man is granted an official appointment here, most searching questions are asked concerning his family connections, his education, his favourite sports, his hobbies, and his social connections. Naturally, he expects to move in something like a social circle here and, instead, has to stagnate in isolation."

"But I am still a young man, only 33 years of age, and my ambitions have not been blunted by the climate of the Colony or the self-satisfied complacency of its 'successes.' Therefore I shall go back home."

Some Personal Explanations.

"By the way, I should be glad if you would correct a small error in your leading article. I have only been here for one-and-a-half years and not five. I had not voted my opinions before because I could not do so. Also, one of your contemporaries tended to give the impression that my resignation may have been caused by a personal quarrel with the new Director of Medical and Sanitary Services. My resignation is in no way connected with the Hon. Dr. Wellington or the present head of the Sanitary Department."

CORRESPONDENCE.

OUR LAW STUDENTS.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

Sir,—According to the recent Budget speeches, both the Governor and the Hon. Mr. Shenton are agreed that more should be done for the University of Hong Kong by way of monetary grants, so that the high standard of work therein can be maintained. With this sentiment I am in entire accord. However, it has occurred to me that there is another channel through which the Arts Faculty will benefit and which deserves mention as it, if explored, tends to popularize one University.

The Law Society in London grants two years' exemption from the five-year articles of the graduates of certain Universities who intend to follow the so-called "lower branch" of the legal profession. The requirements for the B.A. degree here are high; but graduates intending to be articled locally are not granted any exemption by the Law Society of Hong Kong. Inasmuch as Group V. of our Arts Faculty Course include Jurisprudence and Commercial Law, I think it is becoming that the exemption of two years referred to should be granted to graduates who pass in these subjects in their B.A. final. At present a graduate of Hong Kong starts on the same footing in a legal office as another articled clerk who merely scrapes through his Senior Local. After all, we must show a little consideration towards the graduates of Hong Kong.—Yours, etc., Z.

Sir,—On behalf of the Committee of the Hong Kong Benevolent Society, I beg to acknowledge, with grateful thanks, a cheque for $90, representing the amount subscribed by some members of the Tai Koo Dockyard Staff in memory of the late Mr. George Morrison.—Yours, etc., L. S. GOLDSMITH, Honorary Secretary, Hong Kong Benevolent Society, Hong Kong, October 4.

RECLAMATION IN HONAM.

PROTEST BY FARMING INTERESTS.

A land investment company recently obtained permission from the government to fill in and reclaim part of the creek bordering Lung Kai Luk Yau on Honam Island for the purpose of building houses thereon.

Operations were begun, but before work had made much progress the inhabitants of that locality raised a protest against these proceedings, and called a public meeting to discuss the matter. The principal ground for the protest seems to be an apprehension that the filling of the creek would interfere with the irrigation systems of the surrounding farm territory, where the inhabitants are mainly dependent on their agricultural pursuits as a means of livelihood. Public opinion being ranged on the side of the farmers a petition has been lodged with the government to cancel the permission granted to the land company to reclaim the creek, owing to the irrigation difficulties.—Canton Gazette.

"In fact, it is far from being the case, because I have had very high and encouragement from Dr. Wellington, and had practically decided to leave before he arrived in the Colony. He has not only been most helpful to me in most difficult circumstances but, by his recent speech in the Legislative Council Chamber, clearly indicated that he hoped to bring about many radical changes in Public Health."

"He has adopted many suggestions I have made from time to time since my arrival here."

"Further, I think that any other Medical Officer of Health of my age and experience, under the same circumstances, would undoubtedly have done the same thing that I have."

"When I leave, I shall probably make a more detailed statement."

"I am sure that many people sympathise with you," he replied.

"Many people—some of them of high position—have agreed with me. Now we shall see what the future holds forth."

"We shook hands at parting."

"H.A.F. interviews 'H.A.F.'!"

I said.

"Yes," he smiled, "but they are two different persons after all, eh? Many Government officials jumped to the conclusion that 'H.A.F.' was me, until somebody more observant pointed out that stories had often appeared in the Daily Press under those initials. I felt no offence toward you; it was just a little awkward, that's all!"

HONG KONG, OCTOBER 5, 1929.

"RUBBER-NECKING" IN HONG KONG.

ONE of the many consequences of improved methods of motor transport is the development of cheap and safe means of sight-seeing. In all the large cities of the world the stranger will find a motor-coach sight-seeing service—known in the country of its origin as a "rubber-neck, waggon." At a very reasonable charge he can secure a comfortable seat in one of these coaches and be taken round to visit places of interest which it would be otherwise impossible for a person with limited time at his disposal to see.

Marseilles may be mentioned as an example familiar to many. Special day and night sight-seeing trips are organised for visitors, and steamship passengers in transit—with only a few hours' spare ashore—find these excursions through strange surroundings most interesting. In cities like London, Paris, Berlin, New York, San Francisco, and Los Angeles the visitor finds a much more elaborate programme offered for his entertainment, and, of course, his stay in such places is usually much more than twenty-four hours.

In regard to transient visitors, such as tourists, Hong Kong is in very much the same position as Marseilles. The majority of through passengers arriving at the port are here for twenty-four hours only. A stay of two days is exceptional unless the traveller is actually breaking his journey here, either to make a visit to Canton or to make another steamship connection. Now, in twenty-four hours one can do a considerable amount of sight-seeing providing arrangements have been efficiently organised, and also provided that visitors are made fully aware of the facilities offered them. Moving at an average speed of ten miles an hour, a motor-coach can cover a lot of ground in the forenoon, allowing for frequent stops if need be at places of special interest. The running fire of explanatory comment by the guide travelling on the coach is also most entertaining if competent men are engaged for the work, and a visitor who makes two such trips in a day will have seen more of and learned more about a city in twenty-four hours than some residents get to know in twenty-four years. It is all a matter of efficient organisation, and narrow and congested though many of our roads are, there seems to be no reason why Hong Kong should not have a motor-coach sight-seeing service of its own.

Almost every week there are hundreds of visitors passing through the port, many of whom are not aware of the facilities for sight-seeing which are already available. The majority venture no further than Queen's Road to see the shops, and the tramway to get the view from the Peak.

A most interesting and pleasant excursion would be a trip round the harbour. In Sydney tourists can make a half or full day outing of this character, and a most delightful experience it is. Without making invidious comparisons, very pleasant harbour-trips could be similarly provided in Hong Kong. Then there is the glorious ride round the New Territories, affording a wealth of magnificent views, which can be done very comfortably in a morning or afternoon excursion. But how many people passing through this port by steamer for the first time know even of the existence of such a road? The drive round the island is a delightful trip, but the ride round the New Territories offers much more variety of scenery, and gives the visitor a few fleeting glimpses of Chinese village life.

Scenic attractions in the neighbourhood of a busy shipping centre are natural resources of considerable value which should be fully exploited. Visitors to whom a place is unfamiliar should be encouraged to explore it, and see for themselves its natural beauties as well as its artificial attractions. Hunting for bargains in curio shops and such like is not to be discouraged or deprecated. To some people an outing of this character is much more enjoyable than mountaineering by motor-coach, but the point is that the opportunity of an alternative programme should be made widely known, so that those who would prefer such outings as we have suggested could take them. Later on, no doubt, airplane excursions over the harbour and round the island will be available, but meanwhile there are possibilities already existing which are not fully exploited.

Speaking at a Legislative Council meeting recently, the Hon. Mr. J. P. BAGA referred to the lack of enterprise and initiative in making known to the world the beauties of the island and mainland. Whether it is possible to attract more visitors to Hong Kong on the strength of our scenic attractions is doubtful, but there is no doubt that much could be done to make the stay of those who do visit the Colony much more pleasant and attractive than it now is. Apart from developing sight-seeing excursions, there is another aspect of the situation which seems worth a little investigation. Compared with our next-door neighbours—Shanghai, Manila, and Singapore—Hong Kong has got the reputation among visitors of being a "dead" town in the evenings. Passengers from steamers in port, when they come ashore, usually look for light entertainment such as music and dancing. Without going to the extreme of reproducing all the dubious night-life "attractions" of Shanghai, can nothing be done to make Hong Kong after dark just a little brighter than it is?

True, there is a sort of curfew which discourages public hilarity after midnight, but even within the limit of the existing law it should be possible to offer the stranger within our gates decent entertainment in the evenings, the pleasant memory of which will be recalled during the monotony of his resumed voyage, and even long after he has reached the journey's end.

The Presbytery of the Church of Christ in China has been celebrating the 50th anniversary of Christian preaching in this district. writes a Swatow correspondent and a representative gathering was held in the fishing village of Yam-tan where the first convert was won in 1849 by Dr. Lechler, a pioneer of the Basel Missionary Society. The congregation now numbers 280 adult members. It is self-supporting and has just opened a new church and school at a cost of $20,000, all drawn from Chinese sources. The sons of the first convert are still alive; one is a doctor, specially skilled in ophthalmic operations; another is the senior minister of the Presbytery; yet another is a preacher in Singapore.

"Again the wisdom of complete suppression of authentic news, is open to serious question," writes the Central China Post (Hankow) of September 24. "Even on Friday night there was hardly an individual of any intelligence in the Wuhan Cities that had not heard of Chang Fa Kuei's defection, and were aware of the fact that some sort of a manifesto had been sent throughout the country. By Saturday practically every coolie was in possession of the knowledge, yet all reference to it has been rigidly suppressed with the result that this revolt is magnified out of all proportion to its real present significance, and the baser elements are encouraged in their efforts thereby. What part Wang Ching Wei is playing or will play in the near future it is difficult to foretell, but the hush policy adopted by press censors and others here, has inspired legends and lent a magic to his name, to which his achievement in no way entitles him."

Siberian Mails.

Some weeks ago we drew attention to the fact that European mail to and from Japan was being carried via Siberia as usual, and suggested that mails for Europe might be taken from here to Japan for transport via Vladivostok. We are pleased to note that the Hong Kong postal authorities have made the necessary arrangements for this to be done, and from now on letters marked "via Siberia" will be so forwarded. It is estimated that the time taken by mail sent to Europe by this roundabout route will be 24 days, which is a very distinct advantage over the Suez service. We feel sure local business-men will greatly appreciate the enterprise of the Postmaster-General in making arrangements for the more expeditious handling of European mail, which has been greatly delayed as a result of the Sino-Russian squabble over the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Naval Officer's Interesting Career.

Arriving on the China Station in 1908 as an ordinary seaman on board H.M.S. King Alfred, Commander H. F. Waigh leaves Hong Kong to-morrow for home, retiring after 25 years' service. Joining the Navy on Trafalgar Day, 1904 in a burst of youthful patriotism, he served over nine years in various ratings before getting a commission. During this time he qualified for everything possible in seamanship and gunnery, and it is pleasant to record the fact that he always found the officers under whom he served ready to help him in every possible way. After serving on various home and foreign stations—incidentally putting in three years' special work at gunnery—the outbreak of war in 1914 saw him Acting Mate and First Lieutenant on board a destroyer in the Portsmouth Defence Flotilla. After the usual run of patrol and convoy work in home and foreign waters he was appointed Gunnery Officer on H.M.S. Dartmouth, on the South American Station, and on the recall of that squadron joined the destroyer service. In this branch, he has served continuously, during the last four years and a half being in command. In February last Lieutenant Waigh was appointed to take command of H.M.S. Stormcloud, of the 8th Flotilla, and took over the ship in Hong Kong last April, 23 years after his first visit to the port. A bluejacket on September 30 he retired from the service with the rank of Commander, and to-morrow leaves the Colony for home on board H.M.S. Concord. It is an interesting fact that Commander Waigh's son joined H.M.S. Erebus as an engineer-cadet a few weeks ago, and if his father's successful career is anything to go by, the young man should make good headway in the service, despite the very keen competition nowadays for promotion.

Looking Back 25 Years.

The lucky captor of the notorious Chinese pirates at Colowan, Macao, at the end of last week was Mr. J. E. Cidade, of the Macao Public Works Department. For the capture of this piratical desperado the Canton Authorities had offered a reward of $20,000. He is presently in prison, pending investigation. His arrest has caused a great sensation in Macao. It is interesting to note that the man disclaims any pretension to being a pirate, but says he was a protector of common people, being ready at any time with his band of followers to undertake the removal of any man-darin who was making himself obnoxious in the district under his control.—Hong Kong Daily Press, Oct. 5, 1904.

Looking Back 50 Years.

In common with almost every journal in the Far East, we have from time to time drawn attention to the serious loss and great inconvenience caused to shipowners and merchants by the Wusung Bar. On the 25th ultimo there were no less than twelve steamers detained outside this obstruction, the depth of water on the Bar being only fourteen feet. Most of the steamers would have to lighten a large portion of their cargo to enable them to get up to Shanghai, besides incurring the heavy expense caused by the detention. The Chinese Government collects port dues from the foreign vessels entering Shanghai, and is bound to render the river navigable. It is not as though an impossible undertaking was asked; all that is wanted is that a powerful steam dredging machine shall be kept constantly dredging the "Heaven-sent barrier." The Chinese authorities will not do this for two reasons: it will cost money, and it will facilitate entrance to the Whangpoo. They have no desire to do anything for the convenience and benefit of foreign ship-owners and merchants, and the Chinese steamers being of much lighter draught than the mail steamers, Blue Funnel, Gird, Castles, Shire and other large foreign vessels, are seldom or never detained at the Bar. If, therefore, the foreign shipowners and merchants wait for the Chinese to inaugurate the work, they are never likely to see it begun.—Hong Kong Daily Press, Oct. 6, 1879.

The speaker thought that the University should have their own art club, and if they could make a small beginning, a great step forward would be made.

LECTURE ON "ART IN SCHOOLS."

INSTRUCTIVE DISCOURSE BY MR. W. NOISE.

WHERE THE CHINESE STAND.

Mr. W. Noise gave an interesting, and highly instructive lecture last night at the Hong Kong University on the subject of "Art in Relation to Schools."

The lecture was given under the auspices of the University's Educational Society, and quite a representative gathering of students and their friends were present.

Professor B. Forster, President of the Society, in introducing the lecturer, said that he felt that art ought to form a part of the curriculum of every school. He deplored the absence of a department of fine arts at the University, and said that "it was all the more distressing because the Chinese, through their writings had acquired a technique of expression, which unfortunately, was not put to further use through art."

Mr. Noise in the preface to his lecture said was the first time he had seen Chinese art and he was absolutely amazed at the amount of knowledge displayed, especially in design. He noticed that the drawings of the younger students had not lost their national characteristics. Those students who were versed in European training, displayed traits of it in their pictures. He thought that if Western technique could be blended with Chinese ideas the result would be an achievement of high standard. He mentioned that in London a great deal of money was shortly to be spent in providing a wing in one of the galleries for the exhibition of Chinese art, so that Western people could get an idea of Chinese art and what lay behind the mind of the Chinese artist.

Tremendous Scope.

The scope of art in relation to schools was a tremendous one, and could not be dealt with in one lecture, but Mr. Noise said he would give a general survey of the position. Art was fascinating and interesting, but it gave a good deal of material for controversy, and little satisfaction to the controversialists. Architecture, literature, painting, sculpture and music were all various forms of art, but painting and sculpture outstripped them all and incidentally provided the most fruitful ground for a diversity of opinion.

Art had no natural law laid down for it and was more a question of temperament and environment. One of the first signs of decay in a nation was the decline of its art.

After referring to the hold which the Church had on art prior to the 14th century, the speaker went on to say that one of the first notable painters to break away from the standards set by the Church was Giotto, who realised that the sky was blue, the trees green and that the human face had emotion, joy, fear and other expressions. Giotto's pictures set a beginning of the great Florentine school of painters, each one of which put into the pool of general knowledge whatever ideas he could pick up. Raphael, Michael Angelo and Leonardo da Vinci of this school have not yet been surpassed.

The lecturer then showed that the feature of the Florentine school was the absence of bright colours, which took second place to ideas of composition. Speaking of a picture of Raphael, which was shown, the speaker said that the greatest living artist could not add or take away a line from that picture and thereby improve it. There was nothing redundant in the picture and in that respect it was very much like Chinese art.

The Venetian School.

The Venetian school, which came after the Florentine, was noted for its brilliant colours, and although religious pictures, were sometimes painted, they did not convey the same reverence, and the pictures reflected the temperament and environment of the times.

The French idea was more akin to the Italian and their painters did not paint their subjects as they saw it, but more as they would like it to be seen. Later however, these artificial embellishments were done away with and more natural pictures were produced.

The English, said the lecturer, had very little ancient art. The school of impressions, varied among artists, some of whom declare that the object of a picture is to paint light. Other contend that the object was to paint colours, whilst a third group felt they should paint instantaneous impressions.

"We are searching for what you (the Chinese) have found—simplicity," said Mr. Noise. "I think it is one of the mistakes of our modern life as far as art is concerned, to start from the wrong end, as we do." He felt that art should start from the very elementary schools, and went on to say how children, from a very early age could see beauty and art in nature, and how those gifts could be trained while the child was still young.

At the conclusion of the lecture, Professor Forster said that they were very grateful to Mr. Noise. (Continued on preceding column).

CHANG FAT FU'S
"REVOLT."NANKING NOT UNDULY ALARMED.

SITUATION IN HAND.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 4. Reuter understands that the National Government remains unperturbed by Chang Fat Fu's revolt. It appears that the latter is slowly proceeding to Kwangsi, where he hopes to join up with certain malcontents.

However, there has been very little fighting, and reports of serious Government reverses are groundless.

So far, there is no sign that Feng Yu Hsiang intends throwing in his lot with the rebels. On the other hand, the arrival recently at Nanking of Liu Yu Fen, Governor of Kansu, and other leading Kuomintang supporters, and their friendly conferences with Chiang Kai Shek, is regarded as an indication that Feng has no intention of attacking the Government.

It is understood that the Government considers the measures taken at Canton adequate to meet any attack from Kwangsi, particularly so as the Kwangsi generals give indications of quarrelling amongst themselves.

It is emphasised that the "Iron-sides" and the so-called "Re-Organisationists," who are rebelling against the National Government, are all "Leftists," and practically Communists.

ON THE YANGTSE.JARDINE BOAT AND OPIUM.

[NAVAL WIRELESS.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 3. At the request of the master of the Jardine Matheson s.s. Fuh Wo, a naval guard has been placed on board the ship.

It is understood that the officers are being threatened for having thrown opium overboard. The presence of the guard is expected to prevent trouble.

PREMIER'S TRIP TO AMERICA."WHOLE CONTINENT MOST

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 4. Reuter's correspondent aboard the Berengaria states that when passing Nantucket lightship, the liner met the U.S. cruisers Memphis and Trenton, which took stations to port and starboard, abreast of the Berengaria, thus escorting what is called the "peace ship" on a stage of its voyage.

The whole American continent is most excited, as the hour of Mr. MacDonald's landing approaches. The most striking impression of popular sentiment is the note of deep sincerity in the welcome awaiting the Prime Minister, who stirs any American's imagination, not merely on account of the dramatic nature of his visit, but as the British equivalent of their ideal "from log cabin to White House."

DISCUSSION AT LABOUR
CONFERENCE.AFFILIATION FEES
QUESTIONED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Miss Susan Lawrence was warmly congratulated at today's final session of the Labour Conference at Brighton, upon her selection by the new Executive as Chairman of the next conference. She is the first woman to hold the post.

The Standing Orders Committee ruled out of order four resolutions on Disarmament.

At resumption of the debate on the revised constitution much opposition was shown to the proposal that local Labour parties pay an annual affiliation fee of fourpence per member, compared with the previous twopenny. Finally, the Executive agreed to make the fee threepence, this to be an experiment for one year.

SERIOUS CLASH AT MANCHULI."ADAMANT DEFENCE" BY CHINESE.

HUNDREDS KILLED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

HARBIN, Oct. 4. The Sino-Soviet clash on October 2 was one of the worst so far. Soviet planes made three separate attacks on Manchuli, and dropped six bombs. They also used machine guns on the Chinese.

The Chinese authorities have issued a statement saying that the clash originated in an attack by the Soviet on the evening of October 1. The severity of the fighting abated on the morning of October 3, but the Soviet resumed the offensive with redoubled vigour in the afternoon.

Owing to the serious situation in the Manchuli vicinity, the Customs officials and residents have left for Hailar, though tranquillity was restored this evening when "the adamant defence of the Chinese troops," forced the Soviet forces to retreat.

The statement puts the casualties of the Chinese troops at 200 dead, while the Soviet is believed to have suffered heavy losses.

DR. STRESEMANN'S DEATH.SYMPATHY FROM GREAT

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 3. His Majesty the King, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the Prime Minister, Mr. Arthur Henderson, the Foreign Secretary, and Sir Austen Chamberlain, are among the many eminent Europeans who have paid tributes to the late Dr. Gustav Stresemann.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, in a brief message to Reuter's representative aboard the Berengaria, said he was most grieved at the loss of a personal friend.

He could not believe that the great service Dr. Stresemann had given for the pacification of Europe with such patience and faith could be undone.

A message from Berlin says that with the exception of the Nationalist newspaper, the Deutsche Zeitung, which has always been bitterly opposed to his policy, all the newspapers admit that by the death of Dr. Stresemann, Germany has lost a patriot, who will be difficult to replace.

Dr. Stresemann will be accorded a State Funeral on Sunday.

THE INTERNATIONAL

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BERLIN, Oct. 3. A conference of the representatives of the five creditor Powers, to organise the International Settlements Bank, opened at Baden-Baden today.

Sir Charles Addis and Mr. W. E. Layton are representing Great Britain.

Mr. J. E. Reynolds, of New York, president of the First National Bank, was elected chairman. He paid a warm tribute to the late Dr. Stresemann, and the meeting adjourned until to-morrow as a mark of respect.

EX-KAISER TO LEAVE DOORN.

RETURNING TO COBURG.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BERLIN, Oct. 3. It is reported from Doorn that the ex-Kaiser intends to leave Holland and live at the Hohenfels Estate, near Coburg, which the ex-Kaiser's wife recently inspected.

There is no law to prevent his return, but the ex-Kaiser has repeatedly declared that he will not return unless summoned by the German people.

ARMY TO BE "WATCH CORPS."LATEST DECISION OF DENMARK.

SEVERE CRITICISM.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 3. The Minister of Defence has introduced into the Folketing a bill to transform the Army and Navy into a "Watch" Corps and "State Marine" respectively, to be charged with the carrying out of the neutrality obligations imposed on Denmark under the existing international laws agreements.

The existing fortifications will be abolished, and voluntary service will replace compulsory service. The "State Marine" will consist of some 13,000 tons of guardships, minelayers, survey and depot ships.

It is noteworthy that the Government which is a coalition of Socialists and Radicals, and does not command a majority in the Landsting, the Danish Upper House, has had its disarmament proposals criticised by Denmark and the other Scandinavian countries on the ground that Denmark will consequently be unable to fulfil its obligations under the League of Nations Covenant, or defend her neutrality in the event of armed conflict.

STRIKE RIOT IN NORTH CAROLINA

SEVERAL ARRESTS MADE.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. In connection with the strike riot at Marion, North Carolina, when two strikers were killed and nineteen badly wounded, it is learned that the Sheriff and twelve Deputy Sheriffs have been arrested on a charge of murder.

They were arrested on a warrant issued on an affidavit by the strikers' attorneys.

COURT MARTIAL ON K.O.S.B. CORPORAL.

A CHARGE OF DESERTION.

A Court Martial on Lance-Corpl. William Wallace, 2nd Bn. K.O.S.B., on a charge of desertion, was held at Murray Barracks yesterday.

Lance-Sergeant Reid of the same regiment, stated that on September 25, accompanied by a police officer, he visited a room at the Seamen's Institute, where he found accused and another Lance-Corpl. The former, who was in plain clothes, was arrested and was handed over to the guard at Murray Barracks.

In answer to a question from the President, Reid said that he arrested Wallace because he was a deserter.

Lieut. A. H. Kelly (Defending Officer): Deserter or absentee? The President: I will put down that Reid arrested the man because he knew him to be an absentee.

After evidence of identification had been given, Lieut. J. Scott-Elliott, Prosecutor, sought to give particulars of an inquiry into the absence of Wallace and a companion.

Lieut. Kelly objected to this evidence.

After discussion with the Court, the President held that the evidence was admissible and the document was handed in.

Wallace in his evidence, stated that he was in possession of a permanent pass which permitted him to leave barracks at night. The pass was valid for the month of September and included permission to wear plain clothes.

Witnesses added that it was his intention to return to barracks on the night of September 25.

Lieut. Scott-Elliott: Why did you not do so?—I did not have the opportunity when Sergeant Reid arrested me.

Why did you not return to barracks before?—I have no excuse, sir.

Lieut. Kelly for accused pointed out that Wallace had a right to wear plain clothes when on leave. There was nothing in the time or the distance travelled by Wallace to indicate intention to desert. The place where he was arrested did not indicate that Wallace wanted to hide from the authorities, and Lieut. Kelly submitted that there was no intention to desert from His Majesty's service.

The accused's age was given as 23. His length of service was stated to be four years and 271 days and he was promoted Lance-Corpl. on June 9, 1928.

The finding of the Court will be promulgated in due course.

U.S. CONVICTS IN MUTINY.STORY THAT READS LIKE FICTION.

APPALLING DEEDS.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. It is reported from Canon City, Colorado, that a thousand convicts at the State Penitentiary are in mutiny.

Three warders are reported dead, and it is understood that the convicts are in complete control of the institution.

An Astonishing Story.

LATER.

After a vicious battle this afternoon, in the course of which the convicts set fire to four prison buildings, the mutineers were driven back and overwhelmed by National Guards, police, and armed civilians. They are now making a last stand in the cell house.

At least eleven people have been killed, but the extent of the convicts' losses are not yet discoverable.

Seven captured warders were shot, and their bodies thrown over a wall, one being shot every time the convicts' demand for freedom was rejected. One of two warders released carried the ultimatum, and the other was sent in charge of his colleagues' body, together with threats to kill all the remaining captives, and also a statement that the convicts would kill themselves unless motor-cars and supplies were left for them at the prison gate.

BREEDING SABLES.

NEW RUSSIAN EXPERIMENT.

[United Press.]

The most pampered animals in captivity are probably the sables on the breeding farm near Moscow.

For the first time in history an effort is being made to breed these animals for their expensive furs. Every sable—there are about a hundred on the farm now—is worth from 1,000 to 1,500 rubles head. Alive, as the progenitors of more of their kind, they are worth many times as much.

Furriers Confident.

Soviet furriers are confident that the experiment will succeed. It had always been thought that sables would not breed in captivity. The idea seems on the point of being exploded. The young born on the farm are apparently prospering.

It remains to be seen whether their fur will be up to the standard set by their ancestors for the delectation of the too well-dressed woman.

The export of live sables from Russia is strictly prohibited. In this way the ancient monopoly of this fur will be retained for Russia.

VACCINATION IN ONE PLACE.FOUR-MARK SCAR TO DISAPPEAR.

The four vaccination marks in diamond formation which have heretofore been borne on the arms of most British people, and have made the wearing of sleeveless frocks almost a source of embarrassment, are no longer to be inflicted. This is official.

A new vaccination order issued by the Minister of Health instructs public vaccinators to vaccinate in all ordinary cases in one insertion instead of four.

An accompanying circular to boards of guardians, in a reference to "Post-vaccinal nervous disease," states: "The Minister recognises that post-vaccinal nerve disease has occurred mainly in children of school age or adolescents who had never previously been vaccinated, and that this fact emphasises the desirability of securing the successful vaccination of infants."

"The Minister is of opinion that, in the present state of knowledge, and so long as the smallpox prevalent in this country retains its present mild character, it is not expedient to press for the vaccination of persons of these ages, unless they have been in personal contact with a case of smallpox or directly exposed to smallpox infection."

SOVIET'S PRESENT POLICY.REGIME OF SERVILITY AND STUPIDITY.

M. BESSEDOVSKI'S VIEW.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PARIS, Oct. 3. M. Besseadowski, in a statement to the Press, admitted that in reports to the Soviet he expressed the opinion that the present policy of the Soviet was leading Russia to ruin, and that he criticised the policy of requisitioning the wheat, and the electoral methods of Russia, declaring that candidates were forcibly imposed on the people.

"If I ruined my career I nevertheless made a useful gesture. Russia needs such acts in order that it may not be humiliated even before China by a regime of servility and stupidity."

Besseadowski declared that had he returned to Russia he would have been executed.

THE LAWLESSNESS OF HANKOW.TWO MORE DETECTIVES SHOT.FOREIGNERS MADE TO SUFFER IN CONSEQUENCE.

HANKOW, Sept. 26.

The Street of the Pure Dragon was the scene of a serious shooting affray on Tuesday, at 8 p.m., when one of the city detectives was mortally wounded and a comrade seriously injured. Armed robberies continue without cessation. A gang of four armed men held up the employees of a large silk shop in Hankow's busiest thoroughfare, Huangpi Street, and got away with money and loot of the value of $1,400. The same gang help up a residence in the Passage of the Five Colours, but in this case they only secured $10 before they were disturbed and fled.

Six plain-clothes detectives, who were hunting for these and other miscreants, were passing along the Pure Dragon Street when they noticed a band of seven loiterers who were evidently criminals. Though they were unarmed, the detectives called on those men to submit to search, but the miscreants threatened to fire if they were touched. One of them drew a weapon, whereupon a detective named Tung, a man of heavy build and noted for his fearlessness, sprang on the man.

Others of the band at once opened fire and Tung was shot through the groin and another detective named Chang was badly wounded.

Meanwhile, one of the detectives had telephoned for help, but the armed police arrived too late to capture the criminals. The question naturally arises why every policeman on point duty is armed, but a band of detectives engaged in hunting for criminals all went out unarmed. Some inquiry into this matter seems necessary.

Aburd Restrictions.

Because of the presence of so many armed robbers in and around Hankow the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs has followed up his request to the Consuls that their nationals should not go shooting or sketching with a series of regulations which are certainly very annoying. Any foreigner wishing to go on a trip into the country must give notice, through his Consul, of his intention and apply for a permit.

He must furnish his name and a copy of his photograph, and state his destination and the time he intends to be away from the port. The permit will only be valid for time stated. The tripper may not carry arms for his protection, nor sporting guns, nor may he draw passes of the district through which he travels. One cannot but contrast the restrictions on a foreigner in Hankow with the liberty which a Chinese would enjoy in, say, the Lake District.

In this same connection, a notice has been issued, stating that a party of Japanese scientists are ranging to study the plants and fishes in the waters of the Yangtze from its source down, but as this is a matter which affects the sovereign rights of the Chinese and has a bearing on educational matters, local officials are not to issue passports to this party nor to facilitate their work until orders have been issued by the Board of Education regulating their activities.

IN SUICIDE TOWN.

EXCITEMENT IN MANCHULI.

JUMPING-OFF PLACE IN THE NORTH.

(BY LADY ROSIE.)

There must be plenty of excitement now in Manchuli, the little town where China and Siberia meet, since the Soviet Government has broken off diplomatic relations with China and troops are massing on the Manchurian frontier.

A very unattractive town is Manchuli, the jumping-off place where one definitely leaves China—the dear China one knows and in whose bosom, however untidy on the surface, much kindness glows—for the uncharted and dubious seas of Soviet mentality.

The "sidewalks" are like those of American towns in the making; of planks laid on low trestles, and many of them broken—a pitfall to the innocent pedestrian at night.

But, so one understands, the innocent stay at home of an evening in Manchuli, for too many of the citizens of the dusty and dishevelled township are convicts who have earned their release or have escaped; not political offenders, but criminals. Men and women, they are heavy-looking folk. Suicide is the ghost which haunts their town.

Intolerable Climate.

The houses are of wood, built mostly after the solid fashion of the Siberian steppes, with pointed roofs. They are not uncomfortable, the chief object in the rooms being, naturally, the huge stove, often of fine porcelain, essential in such a bitter climate as Manchuli possesses in winter.

In summer the heat is intolerable, and the flies a plague. But in spring and autumn the wild flowers are enchanting. I knew an Englishman living there for a time who showed me his garden. He and his Chinese servants cared for it faithfully; it was their only distraction.

Gospel of Despair.

It was radiant with colour; a strip of asters and zinnias flung unexpectedly, like an Eastern carpet, across the dusty earth.

It is the loneliness which is the bane of Manchuli. True, the Trans-Siberian train rolls up once or twice a week to meet or deliver international travellers on the Chinese Eastern Railway.

These are Chinese, Russians, Germans, English, Japanese—a small number of Japanese—a scattering of French, Italians, Americans, Rumanians, Greeks. But they flit through and are gone, after a tussle at the Customs houses, on one side of which stands Russia, on the other China.

The administrator of the Chinese Customs has no sinister post the days when the Soviet is desirous of passing on to China its ideas of a communistic world.

It was the slender young Chinese in charge of the posts who brought home to me, the first time I visited it, the loneliness of that border town. I was buying stamps. He nearly wept to hear me speak the Chinese of a more southerly province.

He took me into his bedchamber and showed me the photograph of his "dear wife," as he called her, and his "dear daughter," a baby aged three, whom he had not seen for two years.

"One more year to go," he said dolefully. "I get more money for being here; but is it worth while?" he queried—that question so many of our own young men have flung to heaven from the outposts of our Empire.

"Even the Chinese here are traders only, who never think or read."

One such passed the door as he spoke—a fine, tall man, with fur ear-caps ready to pull down at the first touch of the awful frost. A different Chinese altogether from the slender young man from the south.

I rather liked his looks, but my post office friend thought him a bear, and not much better than a Russian!

That was his way of thinking.

THE ATTACK ON
DR. HU SHIH.CONDEMNATION OF DR.
HU'S ARTICLES.STATE COUNCIL ASKED TO WARN WRITER.

The question of Dr. Hu Shih's right to discuss the affairs of China and the Kuomintang still occupies the attention of Nanking officials. At last week's meeting of the State Council, the following resolution was passed:

"We are in receipt of a petition from the Shanghai Party Headquarters which has been referred to us by the Standing Committee of the Central Party Headquarters to the effect:

"We find that Hu Shih has expressed misleading opinions recently, especially in the three articles: Rights of Man and a Provisional Constitution; When are we going to have a Constitution? Knowledge is Difficult, but Action is now so easy either, published in the 'Crescent Moon' magazine.

"He showed in these articles that he is totally unacquainted with the nature of the present society and that he has a very erroneous understanding of the ideology of our party and the doctrine of our leader. He furthermore over-stepped the limit of discussion and indulged in meaningless quibbling.

"The ideology of our party is all embracing and it does not deny the right of members and others to study and examine the principles of the party, as only in this way can they be better understood and disseminated. But Hu Shih, although he is president of a university, has not only misinterpreted the ideology of our party, but he has also violated the limitations of scholarly discussion by stooping to unwarranted attacks of a vicious character. Such an action is certainly undignified on the part of a university president and has the evil effect of misleading such of our people who have not yet gained a firm belief in our principles.

"This cannot pass uncorrected lest it should give encouragement to similar conduct.

"We therefore ask the State Council to instruct the Ministry of Education to have Hu Shih of his highly undesirable conduct. We also suggest that the Ministry of Education instruct the presidents of all universities to instruct in turn professors and instructors under their charge to study carefully the ideology of our party, lest they should lend themselves to the dissemination of false interpretations."

"We, the State Council, hereby instruct the Executive Yuan to instruct, in turn, the Ministry of Education to carry out this order of the Training Department of the Central Party Headquarters."

BABY DROPPED FROM WINDOW.MOTHER LEAPS FROM BLAZING HOUSE.

A woman dropped her baby from an upstairs window into the arms of rescuers and then jumped down to the street in a fire in Nicholl-street, Haggerston.

Neither was injured, but the mother, Mrs. R. Wright, the wife of an unemployed labourer, was treated for shock at a hospital.

"I had just gone upstairs to see to my baby Queenie, who is seventeen months old, when I smelled smoke and heard cries of 'Fire!'" said Mrs. Wright.

"Then a young man burst into the room and dashed downstairs with my other little girl, Annie, aged six. He shouted to me to follow, but when I tried to get downstairs the flames swept me back.

"I rushed to the window and saw a number of my neighbours below with their arms outstretched. They told me to jump. So I threw little Queenie down, and when they had caught her I jumped myself, and they caught me safely, too.

"The young man who rescued Annie was badly burned on the face. I do not know who he is, except that he was delivering minerals at a public house before the fire, and when it was all over he resumed his work."

The courageous action of a Pootung barber in grappling with an armed robber and holding on to him until the arrival of the police in spite of knife wounds which he had received in the arm deserves mention. Three armed robbers had entered a worker's house and had relieved the inmates of a quantity of jewellery. The worker's wife cried for help and the barber, living opposite, ran over and wrestled with one of the gang, whereupon the others "attacked" him with knives. In spite of this, he held on to his man, whom he handed over to the police, after which he collapsed. The other two members of the gang escaped.

Sixteen teams will play in the junior division and to complete the fixtures, each team will be required to play thirty games, which will be a long season for the Clubs who can only field a side on Saturday afternoon.

The Hong Kong and Kowloon F.C. meet in the opening game on the H.K.F.C. ground. This is always a sporting game and attracts a large following of soccer enthusiasts. The meeting of the Clubs is considered a local derby in the soccer world and the game is always keenly contested until the final whistle sounds. Kowloon have taken the honours in the more recent games and it is up to the Club to look to their laurels to-day.

The Club are fielding one of last season's team, the new players are Peers at inside right and Gilchrist at right half.

Kowloon are making several changes and are depending on several young players who have done well in junior football in past seasons. T. Pile (Police) and Gallagher (R.A.F.) will assist Kowloon against the Club to-day.

CHINA ATHLETIC v. RECREIO ON NEW GROUND.

The attraction to-day is the game on the newly acquired ground at North Point. China Athletic are due to receive the Club de Recreo in the opening game. A large crowd is expected as the games between the Athletic and Recreo are the tributes of the season. The visitors will be without A. V. Gosano who is under the doctor's orders. Recreo makes a dash for the Athletic a good game. The Athletic will be fielding practically the same team as last season. Li Wei Koon is expected to be present at the opening game. The stand accommodation, which by the way is the largest in the colony, should be fully taxed, as the Athletic can be sure of a large following, as shown in a friendly game last week on the Garrison ground.

NAVY v. S.L.I.

The Kowloon F.C. ground will witness the struggle between two service teams. The S.L.I. have drawn the Navy in the opening game and these teams will meet on the Railway ground. Kowloon F.C. have increased the size of the playing pitch while visitors will be catered for in the fine stands which now entirely enclose the ground. While both teams will be strongly represented, it would be unjust to attempt to predict the winner. Visitors may be assured that a keen game will be played and the football will be bright until the final whistle sounds.

St. Joseph's receive the K.O.S.B. on the College ground within the racecourse. The K.O.S.B. have soon found their form and the College team will probably suffer defeat in the opening fixture.

The military team has been showing great strides in recent games, while little is known of St. Joseph's. They have got a good number of players registered but are likely to go down in their games.

CLARKE NO LONGER AVAILABLE FOR POLICE TEAM.

The Police are due to meet the R.A. on the Garrison ground. The visitors will miss Clarke who has served them well in goal during the past four seasons. Other players, Oram and Brittain will also be badly missed from the Police team. The Gunners are badly in need of forwards. They will depend on the defence of last season.

The Sookunpoo ground is in fine condition having been returned. With the exception of the Ewo v. China Athletic "A," the Peninsula has been badly neglected in the way of games in the junior division, seven games being scheduled to take place on the island.

Three games are being played within the racecourse, one on the H.K.F.C. ground, one at Caroline Hill, one on the Garrison ground, and one at the Stadium North Point. The K.O.S.B. and Royal Navy are expected to win their games. It would be useless to attempt to predict the results of the other games, although H.K.F.C., Kowloon F.C., and China Athletic "A" appear to have the luck of the draw.

ST. JOSEPH'S v. K.O.S.B.

The following will represent the St. Joseph's Old Boys' Association in their League Match against K.O.S.B. on St. Joseph's Ground to-day at 4.30 p.m.:—
C. Rocha; B. A. Hyder, L. Gomes; G. F. Victor, R. Paton, T. Leonard; D. Leonard, F. L. Souza, J. Castillo, W. H. Jackson, L. Fernandez.

ST. JOSEPH'S 2ND XI v. NAVY.

The following will represent the St. Joseph's Old Boys' Association 2nd XI in their League Match against Navy on Navy Ground to-day at 3 p.m.:—
A. M. Omar; F. M. X. Souza, L. Harvey; K. M. Omar, S. Reed, O. Omar; A. McGrann, A. Gutierrez, L. Castilho, A. K. Minu, W. Lau Tong.

POLICE DEFEAT SHANGHAI.

EXCITING LAWN BOWLS MATCH.

SINGLE SHOT VICTORY.

Shanghai lawn bowlers were beaten yesterday by one shot in a very exciting game at the Police Recreation Club. It looked as if the Police were going to be badly beaten, as Shanghai were 8-2 at one time, but the home team pulled up and went two shots ahead to see the visitors once more on the road to victory. Scores were even in the penultimate head and the home team gained the single shot win on a wood placed by their No. 1, Nolan, which was never moved.

Visitors Again Lead.

The visitors, who were one shot down, took the lead by scoring four in the fourteenth head. Home players helped in the score in their efforts to get in. In the next Shanghai took another shot to lead by four.

Mair, the Police skip, did marvels with his last wood in the next two heads. He moved up a wood for shot to deprive the visitors of two or three, and again came in for a touch and a score of two. Dorrance had before this laid the shot towards which "Sandy" Malcolm put in a blocker.

Shanghai took two in the eighteenth head on woods placed by Kerley. In the next Phillips put in two counters, and West came in for second. Skip Mair drew the shot and Malcolm narrowly missed.

Police Pull Up and Win.

The home team were now two shots behind and two counters were put in by the opposing No. 1, Hargreaves, drew the shot beautifully, and his skip drew yet closer and claimed two shots, scores being 16-16.

In the deciding head Nolan put one in front of the jack, which was never moved in spite of efforts by the three Shanghai players to draw in, and Malcolm missed two drivers, leaving the Police winners by one.

Presentation of Spoons.

Mr. W. Kent (A.S.P.) presented spoons to the visiting players, commenting on the very close and interesting game.

In reply, Mr. Malcolm said that the Police deserved to win, as they played some very beautiful shots. Sometimes he felt that the Police pinched his shots. He was keen to gain another win which could have intensified his desire to carry the flag and to do it. The loss by still going to do it. The loss by still going to do it. The loss by still going to do it.

In conclusion Mr. Malcolm asked those present to give his team the same support at the Interport match as they did during the afternoon. He presented spoons to the winners and called for three hearty cheers.

A CHEERY DINNER.

Nearly a hundred sat down to dinner in the new extension of the Club. "Bob" Stott's band being in attendance and a very pleasant evening was spent by all present.

The Hon. Mr. T. H. King, acting C.S.P., made a speech in which he congratulated the Shanghai team on the very excellent game they put up during the afternoon. He felt that it was the generous spirit of the visitors which made the home team win the match. He thought that if the Shanghai team would only put themselves in the hands of the Police on the day of the Big Match, they could be sure of being well protected although he had no request from Mr. Brawn to let the Shanghai team down.

Mr. Malcolm's Reply.

Mr. Malcolm, speaking on behalf of the visitors, thanked the Police R.C. for the very pleasant afternoon, but he would not for a single moment allow the Hong Kong team to "waylay" them. He said in any case his team was going to give Hong Kong a good run for the money. He paid a tribute to Mr. Mair, and his men, who succeeded in lowering their colours. CRICKET.

THE MALAYA SIDE.

The Hon. Secretary of the H.K.C.C. has announced that information has just been received that the following players will represent Malaya at the forthcoming Triangular Tournament:—

A. J. Bostock Hill, R. B. L. Braddell, G. M. Brand, R. G. Gibson, Dr. H. O. Hopkins, P. N. Knight, W. A. B. Smith, Lal Singh, Evan Wong, W. A. D. Wyach, Lt. Waring and A. N. Other.

Bostock Hill is a fine slow bowler who skittled us out on the Padang last time we went down there. "Bobby" Braddell is an old Oxford Blue, a flashing bat, and a distinctly temperamental.

P. N. Knight is a Penang barrister. He was here with Griffith's team a good time ago. A useful bat and medium-fast bowler. Dr. Hopkins is a Government doctor from Penang. I think; W. A. D. Smith comes from Selangor, and Lieut. Waring is a gunner. I hope to publish full particulars later, provided that the Singapore exchange behaves itself. By the way, I can't help thinking I have met A. N. Other somewhere before. Well, we shall see.

R. ABBIT.

K.C.C. v. H.K.C.C.

The following will represent the K.C.C. against the H.K.C.C. to-day:—

ROUND THE COURTS.

PILFERING LETTERBOXES.

Sentences totalling six months' hard labour each were passed on three Chinese who were charged before Mr. E. W. Hamilton with thefts of letters from private letter boxes in the Western district.

The defendants gave conflicting stories as to how they got possession of the letters. The first man said that he was given the letters by the third defendant. The latter however, stated that he was given two letters by the first defendant and that he knew that they were taken from private letter boxes.

The second defendant said that he had nothing to do with the stealing and was reading a letter given him by the first defendant, when a Chinese constable approached him. All three were convicted on the charge of conspiracy to steal and were sentenced to six months' hard labour. The first and second defendants were also given three months' each on the charge of receiving stolen letters. The second sentence, however, was to be concurrent with the first.

UNNECESSARY TOOTING.

The driver of private car No. 595 was summoned for sounding his horn unnecessarily at Central Magistracy yesterday, Mr. P. J. Woodhouse appearing as complainant.

Mr. Woodhouse said that he recognised the sound of the defendant's horn very well, as it had a peculiar note. A few days ago he met the car as he was going down Wyndham Street and he noticed that the defendant sounded his horn about ten times before he reached the end of the street.

The defendant's record showed that he had not been fined during the last three years. Mr. Hamilton administered a caution and added that he would impose a heavy fine if the defendant should come up again. "Instead of tooting all the time, drive slowly," added his Worship.

A LEARNER FINED.

Miss S. Y. Wu and Mr. Leung Sai Yau were summoned for breaches of the traffic regulations, the former for driving a car in Pokfulam Road with only a learner's licence and the latter for allowing her to drive knowing that she was not qualified.

Mr. Leung was fined $15 and Miss Yu $10.

AT KOWLOON MAGISTRACY.

A CLEVER TRICK EXPOSED.

A very clever trick was exposed at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday when a Chinese was charged before Mr. T. S. Whyte Smith with false pretences.

The defendant approached a Chinese woman living at 494, Nathan Road and handed her a letter purporting to have been written by her son in Canton asking her to hand certain articles to bearer.

Previous to the arrival of the defendant, the woman had noticed when leaving the house that there were two letters in her box. On returning she found one missing. Her younger son noticed that the handwriting on the envelope was that of his brother in Canton, but on opening it he discovered that it had been tampered with and the letter had not been written by his brother. Enquiries were made at the Post Office and it was found that the letter should have been delivered two days before it was actually received.

The defendant was asked to call back, and when he did so he produced the letter which was originally in the envelope. The mother then had the man arrested.

A sentence of two months' imprisonment was imposed.

YOUNG GIRLS CHARGED WITH TREE CUTTING.

Four young Chinese girls whose ages ranged from nine to thirteen were before Mr. Whyte Smith for cutting and damaging nine trees on the Government plantation above Sai Kung Road, Kowloon City. They all pleaded guilty. Mr. G. B. Twemlow, told the Magistrate that quite a number of trees had been damaged by children who had been sent after firewood by their parents. The children had to be arrested as the damage was becoming serious.

One of the mothers of the defendants denied that she had sent her child to cut trees. If her daughter had gone to cut trees she was unaware of it.

In reply to the Magistrate who enquired if the Secretary for Chinese Affairs would interest himself in the case, Mr. Twemlow said that he did not think so.

His Worship pointed out that he did not mean to refer to the matter of cutting of the trees, but to the question of the welfare of the children. It was a question of child welfare.

The Magistrate remanded the children until this morning while their parents were communicated with.

HONG KONG SHARES.

BENJAMIN & POTTS' WEEKLY REPORT.

Messrs. Benjamin & Potts, share and general brokers in their weekly share report dated yesterday, state: There has not been any notable expansion of business in the local market since the date of our last report, but prices on the whole have kept very firm with an inclination towards a higher level, the market closing with a good general demand for most stocks.

Banks.—Hong Kong and Shanghai Banks have again strengthened and were placed up to $1,270. They are quoted $120 (Middle) in London.

Marine and Fire Insurances.—Unions have been strong and the price has made further headway to $365. Hong Kong Fires have likewise hardened and are saleable at $785, while Cantons are wanted at $650 and probably a little more would be paid. China underwriters, which have been dormant for some time, have at last exhibited some symptoms of life and are now in request at $2.10.

Shipping.—Hong Kong, Canton and Macao Steamboats were realised again at $252. "Shell" Transports were lower in London and are quoted 90/- (middle). Water-boats are on offer at $22. Douglas Steamships have not met with any attention and are unchanged at $27.

Docks, Wharves and Godowns.—Hong Kong and Kowloon Wharves have displayed great buoyancy and a strong demand for the shares has raised the price to $140. Hong Kong and Whampoa Docks are idle round $32. China Providents were again put through at $4.75. A small decline has occurred in Shanghai Docks, the price of which has weakened to Tls. 141. New Engineers are remaining steady at Tls. 8.50.

Land, Hotels and Buildings.—Hong Kong Lands have changed hands at advancing rates to $63. Hong Kong Hotels were done in the beginning of the week at $9.70, but finished up slightly easier. Humphreys Estates continue in request at $14.25. Realty and Trust were bid up to $3.10.

Public Utilities.—Hong Kong Electricities opened with sales at $64, but the market has eased off to $62. A fair business was put through at intervening rates. China Lights have been in strong demand and have been largely dealt in from $12.80 up to $13.40. Hong Kong Tramways have had transactions again at $18.25 to $18.30. "Star" Ferries were placed at the improved quotation of $70.

Oils and Mining.—Benguet Consolidated continue in demand at $3.60, cum dividend. Langkat (combined) have buyers at Tls. 16. Tronoh Mines are wanted at 21/-.

Miscellaneous.—Green Island Cements (combined) have improved their position and have been the medium of a fair turnover at $9.00 to $10. The "Old" shares have advanced to $7.50 and the "New" to $2. Hong Kong Ropes changed hands up to $7.75. Telephones were bought at $7.00. Watsons have lapsed to a nominal quotation of $11.90.

Cotton Mills.—Ewo Mills were negotiated at the outset at Tls. 21, but they are, however, much firmer at the close and buyers prevail at Tls. 22. Shanghai Cottons (New) were sold to the North at Tls. 75. The Old shares are wanted at Tls. 90.

Rubbers.—Owing to the drop in the raw rubber to 9d., share prices are weaker all round. The following cabled quotations from Shanghai show a decline over last week's rates, which are also given below as a comparison.

Tls.
Anglo-Javas	9.75 (11.00) buyers.
Anglo-Dutch	5.00 (5.30) "
Batu Ananas	1.05 (1.10) "
Chemors	1.80 (2.25) "
Consolidated	4.00 (4.35) "
Kyowocks	2.60 (3.35) "
Repahs	1.55 (1.80) "
Tanah Merah	1.55 (1.70) "
Tebongs	2.90 (3.30) "
Ziangbes	9.50 (10.75) "

The price of rubber to-day is 9d. Exchange.—The T.T. rate on London to-day is 1/104 and on Shanghai 85.

Forward Settlement Days.—October 20, November 20, and December 23, 1929.

THE MANCHURIAN BEAN TRADE.

TAXATION ON EXPORTS WANTED.

Interesting statements with reference to the bean trade in the Three Eastern Provinces were made by representatives of the Manchurian Bean Oil Exporters Association when interviewed upon their arrival from the north recently.

According to these merchants, one of the most important reasons for the party's visit was to present three demands to the National Government, viz., that heavier duties be imposed on beans intended for export, that bean oil and bean cakes intended for export be exempted from taxation, and that no further taxes be imposed on beans, bean oil and bean cakes intended for domestic use.

As to the first demand, the reason was given that the Manchurian bean trade was now one of the most important in the raw material world, in accordance with economic principles, it was necessary that heavier export duties should be imposed on beans intended for export in order to prevent such an important raw material from going to foreign countries in large quantities.

The Three Eastern Provinces produce 7,000,000 tons of beans annually, which is equal to about 70 per cent. of the world's total production, for, apart from the United States, which produces 2,000,000 tons of beans annually for domestic use, almost every country in the world which manufactures bean oil is dependent on Manchuria for the supply of beans.

Bean consumption has increased as a result of the discovery of a method by Germans by which the bean juice can be transformed into a solid foodstuff. This method has been adopted by many other countries. As said the representatives, this important raw material is needed also by native oil manufacturers, the Chinese Government should adopt a protective policy in its export tariff and impose heavier export duties on beans.

Danger of Great Loss. Apropos of the second demand, it was said that, again, according to economic principles, the Government should do everything within its power to encourage the export of its surplus supplies. Nearly 90 per cent. of the Manchurian bean oil and bean cakes were intended for export but the National Government had failed to reduce taxation on these. Furthermore, they said, there had been more than 300 bean oil factories in Manchuria, but now only about 30 remained in operation.

Last year, 25 representatives of the Association had gone to Europe to investigate the cause of the depression in China's bean oil export trade and it was found that various governments, jealous of China's bean oil trade, had imposed heavy import duties on Chinese beans, so it would be seen that the protective policies adopted by foreign countries were responsible for the depression.

If the National Government declined to exempt bean oil and bean cakes from export duties, the native bean-oil factories would be forced to close, the merchants would stand to lose not less than $100,000,000, and the Manchurian bean trade would be monopolized by foreigners in Manchuria, who had used every possible means to export large quantities of Chinese beans abroad.

In conclusion, members of the party said that the taxes already imposed on bean oil and bean cakes for domestic use were excessive, so no more should be imposed.

CANTON TRADE NOTES.

The value of the Central Bank of China notes has risen to 85 per cent. from 78 per cent.

The merchants in Chefoo have decided to carry on their suspension of business as a protest against the new tax on imports and exports.

There has been a sharp drop in the silk prices lately. On Thursday, 360 bales of No. 14/18 raw silk were exported to Lyons at H.K. $990 per picul.

The cotton yarn market has been exceedingly dull lately and there has been practically no inquiry. The prices have not fallen, however, as merchants are unwilling to reduce prices.

In spite of the troop movements, trade conditions in the districts along the West River have remained undisturbed. Business in Panshan has been particularly brisk and large consignments of goods are being imported.

TENNIS NOTES.

YOUTHFUL PLAYERS' PROGRESS.

PAST SEASON REVIEWED.

[United Press.]

New York.—Outstanding among the results of the spectacular 1929 tennis season, along with the definite passing from the top-flight of the famed Tilden-Hunter team, are the forging strides made by youthful players, both in singles and doubles.

The United States, long considered far behind European countries in the development of sound doubles combinations—although well supplied with promising singles players—finds that this summer's competition has produced at least three or four teams which are looked upon with confidence as potential Davis Cup competitors. The rapid rise of college players during the season just closed supports the belief held by competent tennis critics that the year 1930 or perhaps 1931 will be an era of rejuvenated doubles play throughout the nation.

Young Doubles Pair.

After the Davis Cup final round at Paris, which was won mainly through the brilliant work of Henri Cochet, the United States, in defeat, had some consolation in the excellent performance of its young doubles pair, Van Ryn and Allison. It was recalled that this youthful team had conquered a strong field to win the annual Wimbledon classic, and after defeating the French Davis Cup team, the European press called the young collegians "the best team of the year."

However, upon returning from a successful European invasion, Van Ryn and Allison faced severe obstacles in the American National doubles championships played at Brooklyn, Massachusetts, for the last few years. Tilden and Hunter, although defeated by the collegians at Wimbledon, were favoured by many to take the measure of the field in the title play. Berkeley Bell, a University of Texas product, paired with Lewis White, to form a team which, although considered strong, was not granted an outside chance to defeat Tilden and Hunter or Van Ryn and Allison.

George Lott, member of this year's Davis Cup squad, and holder of the 1928 doubles championship with John Hennessey, paired with 31-year old John Doeg. Many of the veteran combinations were prepared to have their annual field meet at the hands of the coming stars. However, if ever, this year's national doubles play definitely placed the veteran combinations on the shelf and enthroned dashing, hard-driving youngsters on top of the field.

Two Bombshells.

Two riotous bombshells were exploded during the play, namely a five set defeat of the Ryn and Allison combination by an equally young team of White and Bell, who had not even been seeded in the draw. In the semi-final round Lott and Doeg beat the best veteran combination of Tilden and Hunter without great difficulty. Thus the final round of the National doubles championship found two young teams battling for the title. Doeg's terrific serve and Lott's all-round game proved to much for Bell and White who went down after three hard fought sets.

Coen and Coggeshall, another very young team, accounted for the defeat of the British pair, Oliff and Austin. From all sides, critics point out that this has been a year in which youth has captured the major tennis crowns.

It is not unlikely that the 1930 Davis Cup squad granting that the ever-guileful Bill Tilden keeps his promise of permanently retiring from international play, will be composed of Van Ryn, Lott, Doeg, Mercer and Shields, all players of college age. Bell and Mangin are another pair who are expected to keep pressing the leaders to the top of their ability.

Lott and Doeg, national doubles champions for 1929, appear to be the strongest doubles team in the United States at the present time, although two days after being crowned, they lost a three set match to Mangin and Van Ryn in a sectional match.

The past year marked the withdrawal of veteran players and their replacement by young, hard-driving young racket wielders.

J. R. JOHNSTONE'S RECORD.

NAVY-LOSE TEAM RACE.

There were two surprises at the V.R.C. Night Fete last evening. J. R. Johnstone set up a record for the bath by winning the 200 Yards Free Style Championship of the Colony in 2 mins. 34 secs.

The second surprise was provided by the Royal Garrison Artillery beating the Royal Navy in the Services' Team Race by a margin of 6 seconds.

Some Fine Diving.

The contest for the Diving Championship of the Colony produced some splendid plain and fancy diving displays, E. da Roza particularly securing well-earned applause. He secured the Championship from L. Roza Pereira by a margin of 104 points.

The Boys' 50 Yards Handicap proved that the young swimmers are not far behind their seniors in natatory skill. As a matter of fact, their times were quite surprising. E. Roza winning the final in 58.3 secs. from J. Lawrence who completed the course in 34 secs., both times including handicaps.

The prizes were presented by Miss Doris Hunt. Mr. W. Logan congratulated the competitors upon their fine displays and reminded the audience that the Club's Harbour Race would take place toward the end of the month, on October 21 if the weather permitted.

Results.

RED RASH ITCHED DREADFULLY

On Face, Neck, Arms and Hands. Lost Rest. Cuticura Healed.

"A red rash came out on my face and spread to my neck, arms and hands. It was of a dry nature and itched and burned dreadfully. I could not rest night or day, and could hardly keep from scratching. I suffered with it for five weeks and could not do any work during that time. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment so decided to send for a free sample. I purchased more, and in three weeks I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Annie Scott, 5, Rose & Crown Passage, High St., Cheltenham, Glos., Eng.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum powder promote and maintain skin purity, skin comfort and skin health often when all else fails.

Going home — Combine Rail Trip with Sea Travel

Shortest,
Coolest
Way

to EUROPE — to Canada — United States

No hot, monotonous weeks and weeks of ocean voyaging... But cool, comfortable and varied... Short sea journey... fast rail trip, then... a second short sea trip, if your destination is Europe. Each transfer has a step to train or steamer. And the delightful exhilaration of gliding through the Canadian Pacific Rockies... 50 Swiss Alps in One! Magnificent hotels too—if you have time... at Victoria and Vancouver, at mile-high Banff and Lake Louise... all the way through. From Montreal or Quebec, Empress of the Atlantic and Cabin Class Ships sail 1,000 miles on the sheltered St. Lawrence and Gulf of St. Lawrence. Canadian Pacific Steamship and Railway Services are all one management... world-famed for equipment and courteous personal attention.

Select then—the Empress of Canada, Empress of Asia or Empress of Russia... largest and fastest liners across the Pacific... sailing frequently from Manila, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Kobe, Yokohama. Direct connections at Victoria and Vancouver for Pacific Coast points in the United States.

9 Days Only—Yokohama to Vancouver

Let a Canadian Pacific agent... or his representative, who will gladly call... tell you how attractive are the through routes... how luxuriously comfortable the routes... and how short and convenient they are.

DAILY WATERFRONT NEWS.

The S.S. Bengloe.
The master of the Bengloe (Capt.
J. H. Patterson) reports that fine weather and smooth sea were experienced after leaving Singapore on September 28 until Bombay was reached. Moderate N.E. monsoon was then encountered. The ship leaves this morning for Takao and Keelung.
